Your Kedarnath Yatra starts from the religious community of Haridwar. By road you need about seven to eight hours to reach Guptkashi while passing picturesque valleys with enchanting landscapes and passing through traditional villages showing the untouched beauty of Uttarakhand.

Guptkashi rests 1,319 metres above sea level and upon reaching this town choose a hotel for overnight accommodation. Pay a visit to Vishwanath Temple and Ardhnarishwar Temple during the night hours. People who devote themselves to religious beliefs frequently visit Manikarnik Kund because this spot where the Ganges and Yamuna join supposedly helps purify one's soul. The evening atmosphere, with views of the magnificent Chaukhamba Peak, sets a tranquil tone for the trek ahead.

DAY: 02

Guptkashi to Kedarnath

The journey will move from Guptkashi to Sonprayag for one hour on Day 2. The journey continues by taking a shuttle service from Sonprayag which will reach Gaurikund at the beginning of the Kedarnath Trek. The journey consists of 16 kilometers with a total duration of 8-9 hours.

The beginning of the hiking trail provides the easiest path because it leads through verdant valleys and gorgeous waterfall sites. The climbing path reaches a seriously challenging terrain as you reach higher altitudes. After Rambara village you should visit the old Bhairav Temple where numerous pilgrims make offerings to have a safe trip.

The more altitude you attain the thermometer lowers its temperature reading. From that point onward the journey leads you through winter-like temperatures revealed by magnificent vistas across multiple peaks. You will find the Kedarnath Temple with its snow-clad mountains at 3583m when you reach this destination.

DAY: 03

Kedarnath to Guptkashi

The first activity of your day should start with morning prayers at the Kedarnath Temple. A peaceful environment along with bell chimes produces an exceptional surrounding. Following the temple viewing phase ends you need to return to Sonprayag. Inspection of the descending path should focus on hazards on the stony terrain though descent is generally stable. Travel by car back to Guptkashi beginning from Sonprayag. Your trip backward will combine spiritual reflection with breathtaking views of the Himalayas on your way back. Travelers who come from all parts of the pilgrimage should use their night in Guptkashi to share their spiritual encounters. The Kedarnath and Badrinath package from our organization handles your pilgrimage needs with complete care.

DAY: 04

Guptkashi to Badrinath

One of the prime religious locations devoted to Lord Vishnu exists in Badrinath so travelers should visit this significant site. During the trip, you will reach Jonesmuth town followed by Narsingh Temple to experience spiritual importance. Your elevation leads you to Badrinath so you encounter colder temperatures complemented by energising breezes. A tour of the Badrinath Temple should follow your hotel check-in upon reaching Badrinath. This holy temple resides in a serene location where it faces white hills alongside the peaceful Alaknanda River. The religious temple hosts an evening Aarti service which visitors should attend. You will find the same level of fulfillment during this part of the journey that was present during the Kedarnath and Badrinath Yatra at the Himalayan peak's spectacular stage.

DAY: 05

Badrinath to Haridwar

The most auspicious time to visit Badrinath Temple occurs at the beginning of the day. A spiritual connection forms while attending sacred prayer times at this place. Your journey should proceed from the first meal to Joshimath to witness the Narsingh Temple before you move on. The route leads into Rudraprayag where two holy river streams merge. The journey leads you through beautiful fields while having dense woods on display. From Rudraprayag, you should proceed immediately to Haridwar.
